

FORT GANSEVOORT

Forbes

April 9, 2020

By Nadja Sayej

5 New York Galleries Showcase Women Artists In Online Exhibitions

A drawing by Zoya Cherkassky as part of Fort Gansevoort's online exhibition.

FORT GANSEVOORT

Zoya Cherkassky

Fort Gansevoort is presenting Lost Time, new drawings by Tel-Aviv based artist Zoya Cherkassky. This collection of daily drawings started when the coronavirus pandemic began, as the artist is confined to her home studio. They're not all literal, however. Cherkassky has imagined a pre-WWII Jewish society in Eastern Europe as a way to reflect on our current crisis. From weddings to lonely portraits, scenes from domestic life and rituals, there's a lonely nostalgia to them. "These drawings are similar to the feeling we have right now, that the world will never be the same," said Cherkassky.

5 Ninth Avenue, NYC, 10014 | gallery@fortgansevoort.com | (917) 639 - 3113