

FORT GANSEVOORT

artnet

ARTISTS REFLECT ON SLAVERY AT N-YHS

March 17, 2006

As part of an 18-month series of exhibitions on the legacy of slavery in New York City, the New-York Historical Society is presenting "Legacies: Contemporary Artists Reflect on Slavery," June 16, 2006-Jan. 7, 2007, organized by Studio Museum of Harlem president Lowery Stokes Sims, N-YHS public historian Kathleen Hauser and American Revolution Project director Cynthia Copeland. Among the 31 artists in the show are Willie Birch, Leonardo Drew, Ellen Driscoll, Leslie King Hammond and Jane Mapily, Joseph Lewis III, Kerry James Marshall, Bradley McCallum and Jacqueline Tarry, Algernon Miller, Faith Ringgold, Joyce Scott, Cedric Smith, Kara Walker and Fred Wilson.